Lives Lost by the "Pat Rogers."

MORE OF THE SCANDAL.

EASTERN.

A Victory for the Whites in the Vicksburg Election.

VICKSBURG (Miss.), August 4.—The city election held here to-day passed off quietly without disturbance of any kind. Both whites and blacks polled the full registered vote. Some leading negroes of the Third Ward attempted to induce their followers to leave that poll, but encouragement for such a course was stoutly withheld by the whites. About forty negroes voted the white ticket and four whites voted the negro ticket. The whites elect their entire ticket by 350 majority. This is their first political victory since 1867. The Union flag and every available piece of bunting is displayed in honor of the event.

Crop Prospects in Europe.

NEW YORK, August 5.—Latest European mail advices are that the crop prospects are not as good as previously reported. The French wheat crop is a good average. Rye and barley yield a good quality and a small quantity. The Vienna Zeitung says July has been warm only in a comparatively small part of the empire, but it was pretty damaging to oats, barley and feed. Rye and wheat looks well, as does corn also.

DOCKWEILER'S

Boys.

Newspapers and ministers are studying the hoodlum problem, and offering suggestions as to the best method for preventing boys from developing into coarse, brutal rowdies. The hoodlums already made we cannot unmake. They are ours and we must bear with them until the grave or San Quentin's walls hide them from our sight. They have grown up in idleness and the vice that always comes with idleness, and we cannot save them now. They are past redemption, and stand forth living evidences of the falsity of the statement that "while the lamp holds out to burn, the vilest sinner may return." A San Francisco hoodlum of five years standing can no more become a good boy and a respectable citizen than a sprat can swallow a whale. We may, however, profit by the lesson these boys are teaching us. The California boy is no worse, naturally, than the boy of any other State. Circumstances make our boy bad. He has grown up with idle hands and an unemployed head. Our boys have not been kept at work. In place of learning trades they learned mischief and developed into hoodlums. For this the parents are in the main to blame, though not altogether so. This has been a hard country on boys. It has furnished them with abundant inducement to become worthless and to slight opportunities to work. The Chinaman has crowded the boy out of employment. The light labor that should be performed by boys and the performance of which would keep them out of mischief, is monopolized by the Chinese. Parents do not exercise as much control over their boys as they should nor do they compel them to work as steadily as they might, yet what with Coolie labor and many other causes, the work for the boys is not to be had. Trades Unions refuse to permit employers but a limited number of apprentices, and this is another cutting off of the boys' chance to work. If people will find something for the boys to do—something that will occupy all their spare time out of school—they will take a most effective step toward weakening the hoodlum element of our towns and cities.

The Grange and the Independents.

The self-styled leading organs of the Independent party, the San Francisco Call and Bulletin, are hard at work on the task of writing the Grange into the so-called Independent party. If the Grange can be persuaded that he is to vote as the San Francisco "Independent" clique dictates, it will be all plain sailing for the managers of the papers named, and they can select the State officers at the next election. The plan, however, will hardly succeed. The farmer is not quite so verdant as these office hunters flatter themselves he is. The Grange is not to be duped with a name. In answer to an article in the Call, in which an attempt is made to convince the farmer that he is a member of the Independent party, the California Granger says: "But the idea of identifying the order with the party need not be entertained for one moment. There are men coming forward in the Independent party whom the Grange wouldn't trust 'as far as they could throw a full-grown sheep,' to use an agricultural expression. They are known to have been mere place hunters in all parties during the years past, and they are blatant Independents for what profit there is in it—nothing more. The Grangers will not support any such under any guise."

The Daily Theme.

The Express of this city somewhat severely comments on the principals in the BECHER-TILTON scandal, and seems inclined to attach a great deal of blame to Mr. BECHER. We are not disposed to condemn a man, and especially such a man as the Plymouth Church pastor, in advance of the evidence; and there are doubtless many who will regard the strictures of the Express ill-timed and uncalled-for; but this fact must be kept in view: whatever of an unfriendly nature may be said of Mr. BECHER now and hereafter, he himself calls forth. His friends and the public generally have thought, and they were justified in so thinking, that he would at least say something in extenuation of himself—something that would strengthen the oft-repeated confidence in his innocence—but he has remained silent. He has assumed that the charges of TILTON did not require his attention beyond the general denial of criminal act. This may satisfy his intimate friends and those who will maintain his innocence until he is proven guilty, but with the great majority of those who inhabit this world the undenied charge is accepted as an admission of guilt. If, as we hope, Mr. BECHER is innocent of the act as charged by TILTON, he should say so at once and in language so emphatic that there could be no possibility of a mistake or misunderstanding.

A Convincing Argument.

The small farm theory is beginning to find advocates among a number of the large land-owners of this valley. It is not worth while to tell a man what an amount of good he may do his fellow-beings by acting thus and so. He will not see it; but when you demonstrate that one-half of a grant sold off in small farms will make the remaining half worth more than the whole, you use an argument which the owner of the land will see at once, and only needs a little more proof to induce his immediate action thereon. So long as our grant owners could not readily see where their individual profit came in all the pretty talk about how they could become public benefactors by selling off their land, went for nothing. They did not care to dispose of their lands. They were not fond of neighbors. Large herds of sheep were good enough for them. Of late it has been discovered that the cultivation of the alternate quarter-sections of a five-league grant enhances the value of the intermediate quarter-sections about five fold. The discovery has already broken up a number of large tracts of land in this valley, and, we predict, men will continue to act upon it until there cannot be found a five-mile-square of good land uncultivated in Los Angeles Valley.

State School Fund.

The following figures, from the office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, shows the semi-annual distribution of the State school money. The total number of census children between five and seventeen years of age, entitled to receive school money, is 150,717; amount, sixty-five cents per child. It will be seen that Los Angeles county stands fourth and Los Angeles city fifth in the number of children:

Mining Intelligence—Rich Strike in Silver Mountain District—Prospect-Expeditious—Gold Discovery.

TUCSON, August 5.—A very rich strike has been made in the Young American mine in Silver Mountain District, about forty-five miles west of Tucson. The mine was originally a copper lode, but at the depth of forty-five feet it turned to rich silver ore, which will average $2 to $3 per pound. They have not struck wall rock as yet, but are sinking the shaft in a solid bed of ore.

Messrs. Bartlett, Hewitt, Gardner and Eldred leave this morning for Santa Rita valley on a prospecting tour. Governor Safford and Messrs. Dunne, Hopkins, Brown and Pearce leave for the Oro Blanco mines to-day with a supply of provisions, tools and quicksilver. The last returns from a partial clean up at one of these mines were so satisfactory that the parties interested are determined to push things. George Hoag of Tucson returned from a prospecting tour on Monday. He discovered a very rich gold ledge some sixty miles south of this place, near the Oro Blanco mines. He brought in a few hundred pounds of the ore, and every piece yields large prospects. Fine gold is visible in about half of it. The ledge is twelve feet wide and prospects well for 1,000 yards.

PRESCOTT, August 5.—A Camp Grant dispatch says that on the 1st a small party of Indians ran off some cattle, and were pursued by a scouting party under Sergeant Jos. H. Turpin, of Co. L, Fifth Cavalry, who overhauled them and recovered all the stock and captured most of the Apaches, after a march of 145 miles. Sergeant Turpin is making a good record.
